Plymouth Rock Fowls in 1846

WITHOUT doubt the Barred Plymouth Rock is the most popular variety of fowls in this country. For two or three winters we have been told that White Plymouth Rocks and White Wyandottes are getting ahead of the old favorites, as shown by the number at the great shows, but this is not the true criterion. Breeders of White Plymouth Rocks and White Wyandottes are about the most enterprising of any poultrymen and they get out and show their birds. They are proud of them and well may be, for either variety is as good for any purpose as the Barred Rock. At the same time one who goes through country places continually will soon become convinced that there are more Barred Rocks in the country than of all the other varieties combined, and we had almost said of all other varieties of fowls of any breed combined.

The Barred Rock is a grand breed, one of which any breeder may be proud. In color they represent the limit of breeding skill and one who does not admire a closely barred Plymouth Rock cock, lined as evenly as if a painter had placed the bars, his plumage clear silvery white barred with the indescribable Plymouth Rock barring will be hard to suit.

Not only is the Barred Rock ideally beautiful when well bred, but it does not stop at mere beauty. Fancy points are well enough in their way but the Barred Rock is utility from the ground up. Full breasted, thick of thigh, plump of body it yields a large proportion of fine grained, sweet and palatable meat when prepared for the table. Being yellow skinned it perfectly meets the requirements of the American markets.

The hens of the best strains are above the average as layers and lay with considerable regularity, winter and summer, being quite easy to break of the sitting habit.

When we see what the Plymouth Rock of today is and read a description of what it was in 1849, we begin to appreciate what has been done with this breed to bring it to perfection and understand what we may hope for when we begin to try to improve any breed. From a recent number of the Homestead we extract the following description of Plymouth Rocks in 1849, as it was published in the Boston Cultivator of that day. The description evidently was written by the originator, whose name is lost to history, so far as this particular strain is concerned. The Cultivator said:

"I have given this name to a very extra breed of fowls which I produced by crossing a cockerel of Baylies' importation of Cochon China with a hen, a cross between the fawn colored Dorking, the Great Malay, and the Wild Indian. The Plymouth Rock fowl, then, is one-half Cochon China, one-fourth fawn-colored Dorking, one-eighth Great Malay, and one-eighth Wild Indian. The cockerels measure from thirty-two to thirty-five inches high and weigh about ten pounds, and the pullets from six and one-half to seven pounds each—forming, in my opinion, the best cross that has ever been produced. Their eggs are of medium size, rich, and reddish yellow in color."

Plumage of fowls is given as "rich and variegated, the cockerels usually red or speckled and the pullets darkish brown, legs very large, and usually blue or green, but occasionally yellow or white, generally having five toes upon each foot. Some have their legs feathered, but this is not usual. They have large and single combs, rather short tails, and small wings in proportion to their bodies. The demand for this breed has exceeded all others during this season and they have been sent into most of the New England states and western New York."

The Massachusetts Ploughman is quoted on description as follows: "Body plumage of pullets, rich, deep brown, speckled with golden-tipped feathers. The under down is black or deep blue-black, and the tail is brown, black and gold. The legs of the pullets are very dark colored, and one-half of them or more are five-toed. The comb is single. They are deep and broad chested, but bodies proportionately long. The roosters are noble birds, among the finest I have ever met with. I am satisfied the Plymouth Rock carefully bred will become a most valuable one to the poultryer and agriculturist (a prophecy that held). The plumage of the roosters is dark, red hackles on neck and rump. The legs are bright yellow, slightly feathered; body dark red and green, relieved with stray feathers of a golden tint, and the under portion of the body and breast is a rich, deep, glossy blue black, partaking of the plumage of the Wild Indian fowl. When in plumage the tail feathers are heavy.

It will be noticed that no word of barring appears in the above descriptions. In weight and shape the Plymouth Rock of 1849 was not unlike the ones we have today. If the breed here described as Plymouth Rocks was really the one from which our present day Barred Rocks have descended there has been a remarkable change in color, and it is not wonderful that cocks are sometimes brassy or that hens sometimes show off colored feathers.

Every good thing said of the Plymouth Rock of 1849 may be repeated of the Barred Rocks of today.—Poultry.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away--Hopkinsville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells, and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Here is Hopkinsville testimony to prove it:

James A. Twyman, brick mason, 1230 South Virginia St., says: "Disorders of the kidneys brought on in my case so sharp and continued a succession of pains and aches throughout my back that I could not rest comfortably at night and arose in the morning lame and sore. I was tired and worn out from morning to night. The kidney secretions were irregular, high-colored and scalding and deposited a heavy sediment if allowed to stand. I had no energy left and felt generally run down. I was feeling worse than usual when my attention was attracted by an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at L. A. Johnson's drug store and began using them. In a few days I noticed that the secretions had assumed a natural appearance and the pain and aching had been greatly relieved and by the time I had completed the box there was a wonderful change in my condition. I am glad to state that I am practically cured and Doan's Kidney Pills will be my friends for life."

Suggested Changes.

In the changes of the New Standard, the entire portion devoted to abaterfowls should careful considered and rewritten. The description of ducks and geese as well, is so vague as to make it exceedingly difficult to understand. The color of the Indian Runner should be brought within bounds so as to exclude the possibility of the winning females having the penciling that has been infused into their plumage through the Rouen cross. Pearl and White Guineas might well be introduced into the Standard, with a description and an illustration, perhaps, that would complete the list of breeds and kinds to the advantage of the amateur and those outside of the recognized fancy who purchase the book for information.—Feather.

A Happy Mother

will see that her baby is properly cared for—to do this a good purgative is necessary. Many babies suffer from worms and their mothers don't know it—if your baby is feverish and doesn't sleep at nights, it is troubled with worms. White's Cream Vermifuge will clean out these worms in a mild pleasant way. Once tried always used. Give it a trial. Price 25 cents. Sold by Cook & Higgins.

Be careful that all chicks get their share. If some fail to get their share they surely develop into culls. Don't feed the large and small ones together. It is best to have separate coops and separate places for each size.
